

Forms and Gears in full form

NT Bureau

Chennai, Jan 14:

Fixture builder Forms and Gears has forayed into auto component manufacture. A separate division has been spun off equipped with CNC machining centres and CMM's to cater to this requirement.

According to a press release, former executive director of Simpson & Co, N Ramani will oversee Forms & Gears's auto component division.

'Forms and Gears is already in the business of fixtures and getting into auto component manufacture was a natural transition as we have the right resources namely people with manufacturing know-how and facilities involving contemporary CNC machining centres with high speed and accuracy', Ramani said in the release.

An increasing percentage of business is coming from foreign companies. Forms and Gears now exports fixtures to countries like Germany, Japan, Singapore and the US. Companies like Hyundai, Ford, Tata Motors, Mahindra, Eicher, Cummins, Caterpillar have profitably partnered with Forms and Gears.
